There is not a county within the boundaries of Arizana but what contains valuable mining districts, and now since the subjugation of the wild Indian, the considered more than average, are eclipsed and for the time, being forgotten. Where, a few years since, Big Rump and various other Indian chiefs reigned supreme, now can be found the honest miner with his happiness to some and to others remorse. Nearly every one in Prescott realize the mo, of pleura pneumonia. fact that everything in a business way depends upon mining. Before the stable character of our mines was so thoroughly understood, before developements had ascertained the fact that there is no "play out" to a true fissure vein, there might have been some excuse for lack of faith; now, however, the business of legitimate mining will bear the test of scrutiny by the coolest head. Business goes on at an encouraging rate, the mines developed are being worked with profit, others are being opened with promising prospects, the mills are worked more regularly taan formerly and laborers are receiving good wares. Our people are prospering, hopeful and happy. The business of mining continues to thrive and time should ever come. With such ores as those of the Pattagonia, Ostrich, Eagle, etc., in Pima; the Globe mines, and the King, in Pinal; the McCrackin, Hackberry, etc., in Mohave; the Vulture, Peck, Goodwin, thirty days. By command of Tiger, Black Warrior, Silver Prince, Crosscut, Tip-Top, Swilling, Zalida, and a thousand other leads in Yavapai, together with the quartz mills we have and the advent of others, to enable us to work the ores of our numerous and inexhaustable deposits, we cannot conjecture anything short of a grand and glorious future for Arizona and her
